

Shackleton's TREASURE

It's a little known fact, that famous Antarctic explorer; Ernest Shackleton trained for his journey on Canterbury's very own Quail Island. Located in Lyttelton Harbour, Quail Island provides the perfect location for you to begin the search for Shackleton's treasure, buried on his return.

The day will begin with a few icebreaker games as we get the group interacting and having fun, ready for the activities ahead. We then split the group into teams and they will race against one another while completing challenges, solving riddles, deciphering clues, and piecing together treasure maps to be the first to the hidden treasure

This is a fantastic activity for encouraging your team to 'think outside the square', and to truly test their teamwork.

Largely centred on the seven aspects of high performing teams, this programme enables participants to learn new skills and cover the following areas...

FUN

- ✘ Full team fun and action
- ✘ Clue finding
- ✘ Problem solving
- ✘ Lateral thinking
- ✘ Competition
- ✘ Rewards
- ✘ Interaction

TEAM DEVELOPMENT

- ✘ Trust and personal leadership
- ✘ Communication
- ✘ Group development
- ✘ Risk taking
- ✘ Decision making
- ✘ Team problem solving
- ✘ Role definition

LOCATION

Quail Island

SEASON

Oct – May

DURATION

3-5 hours

Min/Max

6 - 80